

Important notes on using the online form:

Be aware that you will not be able to save your changes to the form. You can complete the form and print it, but unless you have a full-function copy of the Acrobat software that you purchased and installed (as opposed to the Acrobat Reader that you downloaded for free or was already installed on your computer), you will only be able to save a copy of the original file without your modifications.

We recommend that you work one page at a time. Be prepared to complete your final version of an entire page when you start to work on it. When you work on an open-end question, have the answer already typed in a word processing document that you have spell-checked and carefully reviewed before you begin. Then you can copy and paste or key it into the online form. Print out the page and read it carefully, or have someone else read it, before you close the file. As long as you have not closed the file, you will be able to make changes and reprint it. If you discover something you would like to change after you close the Acrobat file, you will have to retype or recopy and paste everything on that page.

To print a single page rather than the entire document, choose “File” on the menu and then “Print”. Under “Print Range” click “Current Page”.
